The sources of the revenue included in the "all other" category should be described. Disclose types of products and services from which each reportable segment derives its revenues. Provide an explanation of the measurements of segment profit or loss and segment assets for each reportable segment. At a minimum, disclose the following: 1) The basis of accounting for any transactions between reportable segments. 2) The nature of any differences between the measurements of the reportable segments' profits or losses and the enterprise's consolidated income before income taxes, extraordinary items, discontinued operations, and the cumulative effect of changes in accounting principles (if not apparent from the reconciliations described below). 3) The nature of any changes from prior periods in the measurement methods used to determine reported segment profit or loss and the effect, if any, of those changes on the measure of segment profit or loss. 4) The nature and effect of any asymmetrical allocations to segments. For example, an enterprise might allocate depreciation expense to a segment without allocating the related depreciable assets to that segment. If an enterprise changes the structure of its internal organization in a manner that causes the composition of the reportable segments to change, the corresponding information for earlier periods, including interim periods, should be restated unless it is impracticable to do so. Following a change in the composition of its reportable segments, disclose whether the corresponding items of segment information for earlier periods have been restated. Companies often disclose the reportable segments of their business and how they determined the segments (e.g. by products and services, geography, regulatory environments, etc). For each segment, specific amounts of items are often reported, such as revenue by product/service and external customers, profit or loss, total assets, interest revenue and expense, depreciation and amortization expense, income tax expense, and expenditures on long lived assets. Explanations are often included on differences between each segment, such as 1) certain measurements of segment profit or loss (e.g. income before taxes, extraordinary items, discontinued operations, change in accounting principle) and assets and 2) changes in methods and measurements from prior year, between segment and consolidated assets. Reconciliation is also provided between the total of the segment items disclosed (e.g. revenue, assets, etc) to the consolidated entity. If not disclosed as part of operating segment information, disclose: (a) total revenues from external customers for each product and service, (b) geographic information about revenues from external customers and long-lived assets, and if this is impracticable, that fact shall be disclosed. Contract accounting relates to long-term construction contracts. Disclosure of contract accounting often includes methods used to 1) account for long-term construction contracts (e.g. percentage of completion or completed-contract method) and 2) determine earned and cost of revenue. When percentage of completion method is used, disclose the method to measure the progress toward completion. For completed-contract method, disclose the specific criteria used to determine when a contract is substantially completed. Other disclosures include: (1) the circumstances in which a contractor using the percentage-of-completion method uses the completed-contract method, or vice versa, to account for certain contracts, (2) any claims in excess of the agreed contract price, (3) any advances offset against cost-type contract receivables. For inventories related to long-term contracts disclose: (a) the principal assumptions used to determine amounts removed from inventory if the estimated average cost per unit method is used, and (b) the total amount of general and administrative costs incurred and the actual (or estimated) amount remaining in inventory if general and administrative costs have been charged to inventory. Also disclose: (a) the total costs (current or deferred) that exceed the total estimated cost of all in-process and delivered units, as well as that portion of such amount that would not be absorbed in cost of sales based on existing firm orders, (b) the amount of deferred costs by type of cost (e.g., initial tooling and deferred production), (c) the total amount representing uncertain claims concerning their determination or ultimate realization and a description of the nature and status of the principal items, and (d) the amount of progress payments netted against inventory. For net deferred tax liability or assets recognized in the balance sheet, disclosures include: the total of all deferred tax liabilities, the total of all deferred tax assets, and the total valuation allowance recognized for deferred tax assets. Other disclosures often include 1) the valuation allowance net change for the year, 2) the amount of income tax expense or benefit allocated to continuing operations, discontinued operations, extraordinary items, the cumulative effect of accounting changes, prior period adjustments, gains and losses included in comprehensive income but excluded from net income, and capital transactions for each year for which those items are presented, 3) the components of income tax expense attributable to continuing operations (e.g. current tax expense or benefit, deferred tax expense, benefits of operating loss carryforward, investment tax credits), 4) types of temporary differences that resulted in deferred tax asset or liability, 5) reconciliation of income tax expense between continuing operations and domestic federal statutory tax rates (public companies only. Private companies only disclose significant reconciling items), 6) expiration dates of loss and tax credit carryforwards and 7) for SEC only, federal, foreign and other income taxes should be stated separately for each major component (current and deferred). For an entity that is part of a group that files a consolidated tax return, disclose the method by which the consolidated amount of current and deferred tax expense is allocated to members of the group and the nature and effect of any changes in that method. Whenever a deferred tax liability is not recognized disclose: (a) a description of the types and amount of temporary differences for which a deferred tax liability has not been recognized and the types of events that would cause those temporary differences to become taxable, (b) the amount of the unrecognized deferred tax liability for temporary differences related to investments in foreign subsidiaries and foreign corporate joint ventures, and (c) the amount of the unrecognized deferred tax liability for temporary differences other than foreign investments. For public enterprises not subject to income taxes disclose that fact and the net difference between the tax bases and the reported amounts of the enterprise's assets and liabilities. Disclosure requirements for defined benefit plans are divided into three sections: public entity disclosures, nonpublic entity disclosures, and disclosures applicable to all entities. Public entity disclosures for defined benefit pension and postretirement benefit plans often include: 1) a reconciliation of beginning and ending balances of the benefit obligation for all balance sheets presented, 2) the effects on benefit obligation during the period attributable to certain elements (e.g. service and interest costs, contributions by plan participants, actuarial gains and losses, foreign currency exchange rate changes, and benefits paid), 3) a reconciliation of beginning and ending balances of the fair value of plan assets for all balance sheets presented, 4) the effects on pension assets during the period attributable to certain elements (e.g. actual return on plan assets, foreign currency exchange rates change, contributions by employer and participants, and benefits paid), 5) net periodic benefit cost recognized as expense by components (e.g. service and interest costs, expected return of plan assets, amortization of unrecognized transition obligation or asset, recognized gain or loss, prior service cost, gain or loss due to settlement or curtailment), 6) the funded status of the plan, 7) amounts recognized and not recognized (e.g. prior service cost, gain or loss) in the balance sheet, and 8) the effect of a one-percentage-point increase and decrease in the assumed health care cost trend rate(s). Nonpublic entity disclosures for defined benefit pension and postretirement benefit plans often includes: the benefit obligation, the fair value of plan assets, the funded status of the plan, employer contributions, participant contributions, benefits paid, net periodic benefit expense and the amounts recognized in the balance sheet (e.g. net pension asset or other postretirement benefit prepaid assets or accrued liabilities, intangible asset recognized (pension plans only), and the amount of accumulated other comprehensive income recognized (pension plans only) and effect of significant nonroutine events, such as amendments, combinations, divestitures, curtailments, and settlements. Disclosures applicable to all entities for benefit pension and postretirement benefit plans include: 1) other comprehensive income from a change in the minimum pension liability recognized, 2) the weighted-average assumed discount rate, the weighted-average rate of compensation increase, and the weighted-average expected long-term rate of return on plan assets, 3) the assumed health care cost trend rate(s) for the next year used to measure the expected cost of benefits and its pattern of change, and 4) the amounts and types of securities of the employer and related parties included in plan assets, For Defined Contribution Plans, disclosures include: the nature and effect of significant matters affecting comparability of information for all periods and the amount of cost recognized as expense during the period. For Multiemployer Plans, additional disclosures include: if it is either probably or reasonably possible that 1) an employer would withdraw from a multiemployer plan resulting in an obligation, and 2) an employer's contribution to a multiemployer plan would be increased to maintain a level of benefit coverage (OPEB only).	132 8 j FASB (Standard); 132 8 f FASB (Standard)

The discussion should include the reasons for renegotiating the loan into multiple loan structures and the extent to which the renegotiated loans impacted the trends in the impaired loan disclosures. Disclosures for troubled debt restructuring. For debtors disclose: (a) a description of the principal changes in terms, the major features of settlement for each restructuring, (b) the aggregate gain on restructuring and the related income tax effect, (c) the per share amount of the total gain on restructuring, net of related income tax effect, and (d) the total gain or loss on transfers of assets recognized during the period. After a troubled debt restructuring has occurred disclose: (a) the extent and amount to which amounts contingently payable are included in the carrying amount of restructured payables, and (b) the conditions under which those amounts would become payable or would be forgiven when there is at least a reasonable possibility that a liability for contingent payments will be incurred. When a creditor that has a restructured loan that has been written down in a troubled debt and is no longer impaired, the creditor discloses the recorded investment and amount of the write-down. If a loan was restructured prior to December 15, 1994, disclosure includes the aggregate recorded investment, the gross interest income that would have been recorded based on original terms, and the amount of interest on those receivables that was included in net income).
